

Technology & Business Leadership

A recognized technology professional and an experienced manager and business leader, Jeremiah Jones is the Managing Director for j.k. jones co., offering expert services across industries including recent work for Adobe, Trek Bicycles, FranklinCovey, AT&T, Verizon, and Zappos.com. Prior to engaging as a full-time consultant, Jeremiah was the Lead Technologist for aVinci Media (AVMC). His work with aVinci includes innovation in the online streaming of personal media as well as the architecture and development of the world's highest capacity on-demand DVD fulfilment system. Prior to joining aVinci, Jeremiah was the Director of Technology for Rain Interactive, a top marketing & development agency.

Jeremiah received both Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Information Technology from the Brigham Young University College of Engineering, with an emphasis in applied physics and a minor in music. He is currently working towards his Executive Master's in Business Administration (E-MBA) from the Olin Business School at Washington University – ranked #2 in the world by the Wall Street Journal for Executive MBA programs.

Jeremiah's professional memberships include active involvement on the Utah Engineer's Council and the executive committee of the IEEE Utah Section. Additionally, he has served as the Chair for the IEEE Utah Section Computer Society. His service on the advisory board for several universities and colleges rounds out his professional contributions. Beyond his work as a technology leader, Jeremiah is a classical piano recording artist with more than 14 million listener downloads, a devoted husband, and the father of three. He currently resides in Lehi, Utah.
